

What motivates an MG-er?

NERD time
Never Ending Research & Development

Challenging ethical hacking projects for major (international) organisations

Leading technical
IT security company (established in 2000 by first generation hackers)

Extensive training opportunities
(OSCP, GXPN, eCPPT)

Good secondary benefits

A fun team
with passion for the job

IS HACKING YOUR PASSION?

It is most important to us that you have the right hacker mindset. Do you come up with ingenious solutions to problems, do you have a great capacity for analytical thinking, do you enjoy taking any piece of technology apart and would you like to keep up with, expand and share your IT security knowledge? If your answer to these questions is YES!! Then we are looking for you.

Madison Gurkha is looking for highly motivated security professionals, ethical hackers and penetration testers who can assist us with fulfilling our mission. We help organisations to improve their IT security posture by delivering world-class, independent security advice, test and assessment services.

We are based in the Eindhoven region and will open a new office in the Randstad very soon. Our team of professionals works for very interesting (international) clients, likes to share knowledge and engages in the occasional Nerf gun battle.

Interested? Drop us a line at jobs@madison-gurkha.com.

If you have any questions or for more information, please contact us at +31 40 23 77 990.

www.madison-gurkha.com